

VICE-PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

May I congratulate you, the students of Charisma Collegiate, on the successful completion of your yearbook. I am fully aware, of course, that a small group of students gave their time and energy to its actual preparation, and I commend them. But one way or another you, the entire student body, is involved because this book reflects your participation in school this year.

What about your participation? Over the years I have come to realize that a school yearbook is a barometer of student involvement. Thumb through a yearbook and you will get a very good idea which students are benefitting the most from curricular and extracurricular activities. They are the ones whose pictures appear most often. You will find them in prefect groups, on sports teams, in the candid pages, and, yes, even on the literary pages. They are the students who will most likely tell you they enjoy school. They are the ones who are making memories.

And, of course, they are the students who are getting the best education. They are eager to become, like Ulysses, "a part of all that they have met" and are convinced that "it is dull to pause, to make an end, to rust unburnished, not to shine in use."

Student, could I ask you this question: How often does your picture appear in this yearbook? Is it in the group photo of your class and nowhere else? If so, ask yourself why. Take inventory of yourself and consider whether you are putting your best into this short period of your life.

If you are graduating this year, it is already too late to change your school record. Your memories have been made. But your life is yet before you: Get involved.

For you undergraduates, determine next year to reap the greatest possible benefits of your time in school. To further quote Tennyson's "Ulysses": "follow knowledge like a sinking star, beyond the utmost bound of human thought."

EDITOR'S MESSAGE

Having completed many hours of long, hard, yet rewarding work, we are pleased to present to you another exciting issue of Charisma.

We hope you will enjoy reading it and that we as students will use it as one of the most treasured memories in the years to come. We hope this will help you remember your school years as the best years.

On behalf of the yearbook committee, I would like to take this time to thank our advisors, Mr. Coish, Mr. LeDrew, Mr. Thomas, and Mr. Penney. Special thanks to Kathy Reid for her typing assistance, to all our sponsors and to all those who helped in any way.

THE GOVERNMENT OF THE PROVINCE OF NEWFOUNDLAND AND LABRADOR

MESSAGE FROM
THE HONOURABLE A. BRIAN PECKFORD
PREMIER OF NEWFOUNDLAND & LABRADOR

I am pleased to extend my personal congratulations to the students of Charisma Pentecostal Collegiate on the occasion of their high school graduation. When students started this, their final school year last September, International Youth Year was being recognized through the world. At that time people were made more aware than ever of the onerous responsibilities and challenges facing our young graduates today.

First, on a personal level, you must make a career decision which will largely determine the kind of future you will enjoy. In addition, while obtaining personal satisfaction from your career commitments, it is my hope that your endeavours will also contribute to the development and growth of Newfoundland and Labrador. Our Province has long been famous for its natural resource potential, but with post-secondary facilities such as Memorial University and the Institute of Fisheries and Marine Technology and others, there is no doubt our Province will be renowned for its human resources as well.

Once again, on behalf of my Colleagues in Government, best wishes on your graduation and for a happy and rewarding future.

A. BRIAN PECKFORD, P.C., M.H.A.
PREMIER.

GRAD NIGHT

1985

1986

This page sponsored by Bank of Nova Scotia

Valedictorian '85

Distinguished guest, parents, teachers, ladies and gentlemen, fellow graduates, and friends:

I consider this an honor to stand before you on behalf of the graduating class of 1985.

Grad's, can you really believe that the time that seemed to be years away in grade seven is finally here? Over these last few years, as we have grown, matured, and broadened our knowledge, we have also made some very close and dear friends with whom we have had some good times. This is exactly what our theme is saying "Together . . . these are the best of times."

When we were younger we would often dream of the day when we would finish school. We are finally having our dreams come true. When we verbally expressed our dream we were often told "Enjoy your life in school because these are the best years of your life" or "When you do get out you are going to wish you were back." Now, as we look back and see how far we have come and look at the good times we have had, we realize that these years together were really good years. We have all laughed together especially in Literature and Language class and some of us in Math class, Mr. Mercer should know about that. We will always remember some of Mr. Penney's come-backs and some little thing said by a classmate that put the class in an uproar.

But now, as this chapter of life is coming to an end, all we can really do is remember the good times together. There are still a few good times to be lived but soon these too will be gone. So as we go our different ways in the coming months, I hope we will take these good times with us in our hearts and memories and some time down the road think of each other and say a little word of prayer that God be with us all so that we will be safe and well cared for.

Finally, on behalf of the class of 1985, I would like to thank all of our teachers for the patience, love, and time that they have had for us. Even though we have had our disagreements we have still remained friends and will always be friends. When we leave Charisma Collegiate we hope that you will remember us not for the bad times but for the good times. We wish each of you the best and again we say "Thank You".

"AT THE END OF THE RAINBOW . . . A NEW LIFE BEGINS"

Madam Chairperson, Mayor Abraham, Mr. Belbin, other distinguished guests, ladies and gentlemen:

I count it a great honor to represent the graduating class of 1986 in this valedictory address.

We are fast approaching the end of our most memorable, exciting years -- our school years. Over the past 12 or 13 years we have developed friendships that will hopefully extend far into the future.

These close bonds have enabled us, as a class, to overcome whatever obstacle fell in our path. We have seen hard times and fun times, passes and failures, wins and losses, but the most difficult storm we've weathered was the tragic death of a dear friend and classmate -- Nancy. Through this tragedy, we have all grown, both in knowledge and wisdom.

But we cannot dwell in the past. Tonight we start on the road to a new life. Graduation is a time for remembering, but it is also more than that. It is a time to look forward, with hope, to the path now set before us.

We have come to the end of one rainbow and now we begin the new life that follows that rainbow. Today is our moment together and it is strong with the unity that comes from each classmate. Tomorrow our dreams unfold with fond memories and bright hope.

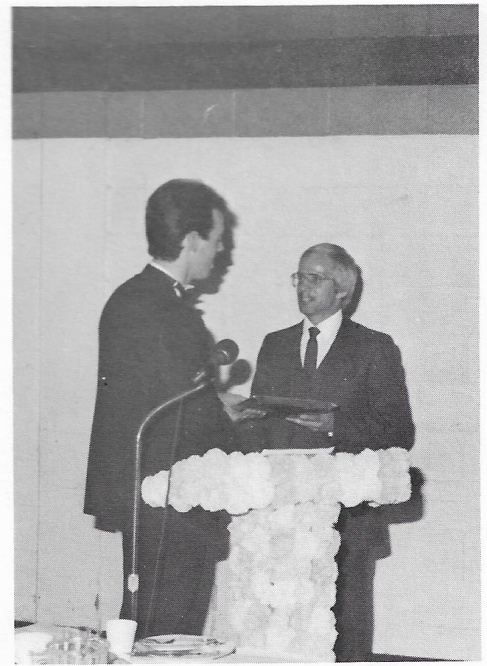

These are the days of our youth and they are very important days. Many aspects of our future life will be shaped by the decisions we make now. I would like to make an exhortation both to myself and to my classmates that above all that we do in our youth, we make room for Christ. As the Bible says, "Remember now thy creator in the days of thy youth."

In conclusion, we would like to thank our teachers, parents, and all others who have contributed to our success so far. And with your continued prayers and encouragement, we can face our new life with hope and vitality.

Thank you.
